NOT SO STRANGE
AFTER ALL

You may think it strange that so many people are cured of stomach trouble by Chamberlain's Tablets. You would not, however, if you should give them a trial. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Mrs. Rosie Rish, Wabash Ind., writes, "Nothing did me the last good until I began using Chamberlain's Tablets. It is decidedly the best medicine for stomach trouble I have ever used." Notice To Teachers

In making your monthly reports to the Superintendent's office please fill in all blanks. When your trustee has signed the report mail it to the office here and the chairman will sign when they meet.

Don't use fractions when more than half, use next whole number and less than half, use whole number below. When finding the total percent add the percent of the boys and girls and divide by two.

Thus far I have received three reports and not one correct. It's a shame. I wonder who is going to send me a correct report? One who can't make a correct report isn't fit to teach. All future reports that are not correct will be returned to the teacher for correction. Reports must come in at the close of each month.

When a teacher is sick he should report same to his trustee who should consult the Superintendent. The office rules that no person can substitute who does not hold a certificate of the class of the school or a first class certificate.

When you need the Supervisor write and I shall send him to you at once.

HUMAN nature is pretty much alike everywhere. No community has a monopoly of grumblers, knockers and kickers. Did you ever notice that when anything in the way of a move for a betterment or advancement of a town, community or county in the way of Commercial Clubs, Chautauqua Lecture courses, Fairs etc. etc., some half dozen or less, hustlers and workers, do most all the work usually gratis, and sometimes are pretty fairly assisted for short period by a larger part of the community, but soon the hammer is brought forth. Something was done that was against brother George's interest or "there is cousin Ike who ought to have received more consideration than was extended". "I won't have a dingy thing to do with it further." Is this the way to accomplish anything great or small? Get together. That's the only way to accomplish anything. If we don't pull together we are lost. Nothing great is accomplished if our people don't stand together. Drop your imagined slights and petty things. Be men. There is a great opening for Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle right at hand. Drop and drop at once the word "hate" if you ever entertained it. Dixie Highway and Boone Way are on our threshold. Get ready for the good times coming. Let us vote our sentiments at the polls but drop it at that and go in for good roads and prosperity. Both are at our door and other good things along therewith. Jine in the chorus of the "boosters gang". Good roads and prosperity for old Rockcastle. Lets work together. Not apart.

THE honest rivalry between the Mt. Vernon and Brodhead Fairs is all right when so carried on, but unfortunately it appears to be there are some unreasonable "hot-heads" in both places who have not that Christian spirit at heart but entertain a feeling of envy and jealousy unbecoming. It would not be so bad provided they, the ones in question, would keep their tongues quiet and not vent their spleen against their neighbors. It is sometimes to be regretted that rules of old Testament days can't be applied on occasions today, especially to tale bearers, and those who falsify their neighbors in public places. Tell the truth without malice. Remember there is nothing gained in the long run by soaking untruths against your rival or opponent. Even telling truths in a malicious way gains nothing. Let Rockcastle people stand together; run her two fairs and put in a road system that will not only support them but will put our county on the topmost wave of prosperity. We can do it. Drop foolish jealousy, let honest rivalry continue, it will help. But let us all pull together.

No man can live apart unto himself and be a citizen of any value to himself and community. Be up and doing for the betterment of your community and county. If everything don't go to suit you, to the letter, remember there are others in same fix. Dig down and help push. Don't pull back. Take these words to heart. Let us accomplish something by building and pushing up not pulling down and destroying.

It is more than gratifying to know that both Rockcastle county Fairs were financially successful. The men behind the guns at both places are workers and what will be more than a plenty.

Chattanooga, Tenn. Aug. 17.—

Tourists over the Dixie Highway when it is opened for travel can visit points of interest more wonderful than those closed by the European war. Within an hour or two's travel from all the luxuries and comforts offered by modern civilization as represented by good hotels, it will be possible for the tourist to visit the scenes of stirring events connected with the early settlement of America, Revolutionary days and strife between the North and the South.

A striking example of the accessibility of points of historic interest which the Dixie Highway will afford tourists, is a visit to the site of Boones fort or Boonesborough on the Northern edge of Madison county, Kentucky, this point can be reached by a short ride from Richmond or Lexington, over splendid highways. The site is now marked by a monument erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The two springs which were used by the occupants of the fort, on fresh water the other sulphur, are still there, and the ferry across the river is still in use. Boonesborough was the end of the trail and the spot selected as the capital of the Transylvania Company. A fort was built and land taken up by settlers. Here under remarkable elm tree, was held the first Governmental assembly in Kentucky. Here was held the first religious service under the auspices of the Church of England. Here was performed the first marriage ceremony in Kentucky. (Samuel Henderson to Elizabeth Calloway) This point was the center of attack by the Indians in 1776, 1777 and 1778. The severity of the last attack was the chief cause of the noted campaign of George Rogers Clark into the Illinois country.

THE CASE OF L. L. CANTELOU.

The case of L. L. Cantelon, Clarendon, Texas is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says, "After trying a doctor for several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by All Dealers.

Otto Kahn On Financial Farm Loans

Every citizen who desires to become capable in business should study banking, and every farmer who wants to see the business of agriculture properly financed should study diligently the financial systems of other industries. All other lines of industry have developed financial facilities adapted to their needs. We have all sorts of financial syndicates authorized by law of custom to deal in a certain line of securities, but in none of these financial channels will farm securities travel without a bonus in the way of an excessive rate of interest or heavy discounts.

The most powerful financial institutions in America are private banks and they are the most important to the financial life of industry. In no line of business does honesty, efficiency and stability make more imperative demands than upon private bankers, whose greatest asset is the confidence of the buying public in his business judgment and integrity. Mr. Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, when asked to state the relation of the private banker to the business of the nation, said in part:

"One of the most important functions of the private banker is to be the instrument for providing the money needed for the efficient conduct and development of railroads and other industries. He does this by buying securities in bulk from those needing capital, for which purpose he usually associates himself with a large number of other financial houses, great and small, thus forming what is called a syndicate. Having in this way concluded the buying transaction he offers to the public the securities purchased by means of advertising, circularizing and through the facilities of the retail houses included in the syndicate, many of whom employ traveling salesmen. Of course the banker and the syndicate count on a reasonable profit for their services; on the other hand they run the risk of the securities, which they have definitely bought and paid for at a fixed price, remaining on their hands wholly, or in part, if the public, for one reason or another, should be unwilling to buy them. The selling of securities is a highly specialized trade, requiring much experience, organization, machinery and scrutiny. This is one of the reasons why corporations do better in offering securities to the public through bankers than if they offered them direct. The willingness of the public to buy depends upon their confidence in the integrity and the judgment of the banker who makes the offer, and a banker who attempts to mislead the public, or who is deficient in care or judgment, would very soon find himself without customers and, therefore, out of business. In many European countries, the functions of the private banker include the placing of bonds secured by farm mortgages. Bonds of this nature are issued in large quantities by mortgage banks who buy mortgages on farms and other real estate and deposit them as security for their own bonds, which in turn are sold to bankers. It is to be hoped that similar institutions will, in course of time, be created in America, thus placing the farming industry on a par with other important industries in facilities to obtain capital."

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

III—Julius Kruttschnitt On Financing Railroads

The farmers of this nation need to become better acquainted with the railroad men and their problems. It is only those who know that can give us information and the farmers of America should listen attentively to what the men who manage railroad property have to say. Mr. Kruttschnitt, executive head of the Southern Pacific, has written an article dealing with the financing of railroads. He said in part:

"The financing of a railroad is a function which the people, through their servants, the Railroad Commissioners and the Legislators, have never attempted, but it is a most important problem, especially to sections of a State where new railroads are needed. The placing of securities has been left entirely with the promoter and owner of railroads.

"The immediate determination of what earnings the railroad shall be permitted to receive and what burdens it shall have put on it is in the hands of other servants of the public

—the Legislators and the Commissioners.

"Managing a railroad is quite different from managing a government where the money is raised by taxation. When the expenditures, for good reasons or otherwise, increase, taxes can be equally increased. The railroads, while servants of the public, cannot raise money with such ease and facility. The railroads must keep their expenditures within their incomes because while they have some control over their expenditures they have almost no control over their incomes, their rates being fixed by public authorities.

"There is not a railway manager in the country today who is not fearful that under the press of increasing demands the transportation systems of the country will, in a few years, break down, unless the railroads are allowed to earn larger funds wherewith to build it up. There are vast sections of the country, especially in the West, where more railroads are needed and they cannot be built unless the railroads raise new capital.

"People invest money in order to make money, and they are skeptical as to whether they can make money by investing in concerns that are dealt with stringently and unfairly. Railroad securities must be made more attractive to invite investments, and in order that they may be made more attractive, the roads must be allowed earnings that will enable them to meet the increased capital charges."

The Spout Spring, that famous old spring, which has furnished the water supply for Mt. Vernon ever since it has been a town, has been severely condemned of late for its impurities. Almost every time a case of fever was reported some one would trace the source of the trouble back to the old spring. A more thorough investigation shows that, out of the number of cases of fever Mt. Vernon has had, that there is only one case that can possibly be traced to the spout spring. Some of the worst cases are those who have the best of cistern water, some are those who live outside of town and use water from big springs, which have for years been noted for their purity. Some people who give no heed to the water they drink, are freer from typhoid than those who go thirsty half of the time rather than take chances on drinking typhoid germs.

Mt. Vernon's 1916 Fair.

The question of making the 1916 Mt. Vernon Fair an exclusive county exhibition will be taken up at the next meeting of the Association. It is proposed to increase the amount of premiums in Floral Hall and to add poultry, swine and sheep departments, remove dining hall from under grand stand and extend Floral Hall therein, adding various improvements thereto. The President and Manager of concessions who have worked so faithfully for the success of the Fair for past years propose to still aid in pushing, but desire other men to be put to the front and at next election will ask that same be done.

It is believed that by the proposed step that when our people understand that the entire list of premiums will be awarded to citizens of Rockcastle, only that a greater interest will be taken and a more successful and satisfactory outcome will be the result.

MOB GETS LEO FRANK.

Climax Comes Unexpectedly to Sensational Georgia Crime.

A mob variously estimated as made up of from twenty five to seventy-five men, after overpowering the warden, superintendent and guards of the Georgia State prison farm here, took Leo M. Frank from the dormitory at 11 o'clock last night.

First reports that they may have been friends of Frank's were dispelled when a prisoner in the dormitory stated that he heard a member of the mob say that Frank's body would be placed tomorrow on the grave of Mary Phagan, of Marietta.

Frank was paying a life term for the murder of the girl.

The mob was orderly, but worked with quick precision. Eight automobiles took the men to within a short distance of the prison. First all telephone wires leading to the prison and all except one from Milledgeville were cut. Five men went to the home of J. T. Smith, warden, covering him with pistols and stood guard over him. Other men went to the home of J. M. Burke, superintendent of the prison, and held him under cover of their guns. Practically every other member of the mob rushed to the stockade gate nearest the dormitory where Frank was being housed. Only yesterday did physicians discharge him from the hospital, where he had been since being murderously assaulted in the dormitory.

Previous to the attack, wires leading to the prison itself had been cut. Frank was placed in an automobile and rushed in the direction of Eatonton.

The attack was shortly before midnight. The warden and most of the guards were sleeping on a rear porch of the main building in which the prisoners are confined. Both he and the guards were handcuffed after which the party entered the prison and removed Frank.

Twenty-three pupils who have graduated at Mt. Vernon Graded School are now teaching in as many Rockcastle schools.

Insuring a Family

THIS consumptive girl lived in a little house with her parents and four brothers and a sister. When the visiting nurse of the city called upon her she found the whole family in danger of contracting tuberculosis from the young woman through ignorance of the proper methods of caring for the patient. The nurse instructed the members of the family about the preparation of the girl's food and the care of her room, so as to give her every chance for life. Most important of all, the nurse showed how the disease—tuberculosis—is spread from one person to another through the spit and spray from the mouth of a consumptive. They were taught that all of the expectorations should be caught in paper boxes or napkins and burned. Those instructions practically insure the lives of the other members of the family.

Ralph Peters
On Railway Mail Pay

A controversy has been raging in the columns of the press between the railroads and the Federal Post Office Department over the question of proper compensation for handling the mail in the mails. Mr. Ralph Peters, Chairman of the Railway Mail Committee, when asked to state the railroad side of the controversy to the American farmer, said in part:

"The railway mail pay question will be settled—and settled permanently and with justice to all concerned—as the American farmer will realize that the whole subject, while seemingly complicated and technical, boils down to a few simple points of fair business dealing which no one need be a rate expert to understand.

"The first is that the Post Office Department weighs the mails, and adjusts the pay of the railroads, only once in four years. This compels the railroads to carry the increase in the mail tonnage during the intervening years without pay—manifestly an injustice in the case of a rapidly growing business. One consequence has been that last year the railroads carried fully half the parcel post for nothing.

"A second point is this: In addition to carrying the mails, the railroads are required to operate many traveling post offices for sorting and distributing the mails while in transit. But the Post Office Department pays for such post offices only where they occupy whole cars, and pays nothing in the many cases in which it merely requires the use of post office apartments in combination cars, although such apartments differ from the full railway post office cars only in size. More than 4,200 apartments of this character have been fitted up, and are maintained for the exclusive use of the Post Office Department, but for them there has been an enormous hardship to the smaller roads on which the Department does not find it necessary to utilize whole cars.

"One last point: In thousands of instances (though not in all) the Post Office Department requires the railroads to carry the mails back and forth between railroad stations and post offices, but pays them nothing for this extra service beyond the rates covering the rail transportation. The railroads have no choice but to perform this additional service gratis, or refuse to carry the mails at all.

"Now for the remedies the railroads ask: They do not ask to have the mails weighed daily, or to have each shipment weighed and paid for separately, as is done in the case of private shippers. They merely ask to have the mails weighed, and the pay of the railroads adjusted, at least once a year, instead of once in four years. They also ask that apartment post office cars be paid for, at reasonable rates, according to size. Lastly, they ask that the Post Office Department cease to require of them free messenger service between stations and post offices, and either relieve them of this service or pay fairly for it. These are the reforms the railroads ask of Congress. They gladly lay these reforms before the public, confident that they will appeal to the common sense and fairness of American voters."

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Hon. Elihu Root
On Woman's Suffrage

The question of Woman Suffrage is an issue before the American people. Twelve states have adopted it four more states vote upon it this fall and it is strongly urged that it become a platform demand of the national political parties. It is therefore the privilege and the duty of every citizen to study this subject. Hon. Elihu Root, in discussing this question before the constitutional convention of New York, recently said in part:

"I am opposed to the granting of suffrage to women, because I believe that it would be a loss to women, to all women and to every woman; and because I believe it would be an injury to the state, and to every man and every woman in the state. It would be useless to argue this if the right of suffrage were a natural right. If it were a natural right then women should have it though the heavens fall. But if there be any one thing settled in the long discussion of this subject, it is that suffrage is not a natural right, but is simply a means of government, and the sole question to be discussed is whether government by the suffrage of men and women will be better government than by the suffrage of men alone."

"Into my judgment, sir, there enters no element of the inferiority of woman. It is not that woman is inferior to man, but it is that woman is different from man; that in the distribution of powers, of capacities, of qualities, our Maker has created man adapted to the performance of certain functions in the economy of nature and society, and woman adapted to the performance of other functions.

"Woman rules today by the sweet and noble influences of her character which control the world, and she abandons these great womanly weapons for strife, weapons with which she is unfamiliar and which she is unable to wield. Woman in strife becomes hard, harsh, unlovable, repulsive; she is removed from that gentle creature to whom we all owe allegiance and to whom we confess submission, as the heaven is removed from the earth."

"The whole science of government is the science of protecting life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In the divine distribution of powers the right of protection rests with the male. It is so throughout nature. It is so with men, and I, for one, will never consent to part with the divine right of protecting my wife, my daughter, the women whom I love, and the women whom I respect, exercising the birthright of man, and place that high duty in the weak and nerveless hands of those designed by God to be protected rather than to engage in the stern warfare of government. In my judgment, this whole movement arises from a false conception of the duty and of the right of both men and women."

"The time will never come when the line of demarcation between the functions of the two sexes will be broken down. I believe it to be false philosophy. I believe that it is an attempt to turn backward upon the line of social development, and that if the step ever be taken, we go counter to the march towards a higher, nobler and purer civilization, which must be found not in the confusion, but in the higher differentiation of the sexes."

F. A. Vanderlip
On The Business of Banking

The farmers of this nation to come into their own must study business. We must, as a class, understand the fundamental principles that underlie every industry, its functions to society and its relation to agriculture, for there can be no intelligent co-operation without understanding. Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, when asked "What is a Bank?" said in part:

"The first and most familiar function of a bank is that of gathering up the idle money of a community, small sums and large, and thus forming a pool or reservoir upon which responsible persons may draw as they have temporary use for money. It is evident that this makes large sums in the aggregate available for the employment of labor and the development of the community. But much more is accomplished than the use of the money actually deposited in the banks, for by the use of drafts, checks and bank notes the efficiency of money is multiplied several times over. A very large business, for example one of the great beef packers, may use very little actual money; on one side of its bank account will be entered the checks and drafts it is daily receiving from everywhere in payment for its goods, while on the other side will be entered the checks it draws in payment for cattle, etc., its only use of money being for small payments, to labor and otherwise."

"If there were but one bank in a community and everybody paid all bills by drawing checks on that bank, and everyone receiving a check immediately deposited it in the bank, the amount of money in the bank evidently would not change at all and the entire business of the community would be settled on the books of the bank. And the situation is but slightly changed when there are several banks, for they daily exchange among themselves all the checks they receive on each other, which practically offset themselves, although the small balances are paid in cash. This is called 'clearing,' and banks meet daily to settle their accounts with each other."

"A bank is constantly receiving from its customers particularly those that are shipping products to other localities, drafts and checks drawn on banks in other cities, which it usually sends for deposit to a few correspondent banks in the central cities with which it maintains permanent accounts. In this way these scattered credits are consolidated and the bank draws upon these accounts in supplying customers with the means of making payments away from home. As each local community sells and buys about the same amount abroad in the course of a year, these payments largely offset each other. It is evident that the banks are very intimately related to the trade and industry of a country. The banker is a dealer in credit much more than a dealer in money, and of course his own credit must be above question. He credits for his accommodation, but he must conduct the business with such judgment that he can always meet his own obligations with cash on demand. This is the essential thing about bank credit, that it shall always be the same as cash."

FREE PORTS BUILDERS OF COMMERCE

CONGRESS SHOULD GIVE THEM PREFERENCE IN APPROPRIATIONS.

By Peter Radford.

This nation is now entering upon an era of marine development. The wreckage of European commerce has drifted to our shores and the world war is making unprecedented demands for the products of farm and factory. In transportation facilities on land we lead the world but our port facilities are inadequate, and our flag is seldom seen in foreign ports. In our government would only divert the energy we have displayed in conquering the railroads to mastering the commerce of the sea, a foreign port would be unknown to the ocean highways.

This article will be confined to a discussion of our ports for the products of the farm must pass over our wharves before reaching the water. We have in this nation 51 ports, of which 41 are on the Atlantic and 10 are on the Pacific Coast. The Sixty-second Congress appropriated over $51,000,000 for improving our Rivers and Harbors and private enterprise level a toll of approximately $50,000,000 annually in wharfage and charges for that intangible service is rendered. The latter item should be lifted off the backs of the farmer of this nation and this can be done by Congress directing its appropriations to ports that are free where vessels can tie up to a wharf and discharge her cargo free of any fee or charge.

A free port is progress. It takes out the unnecessary link in the chain of transactions in commerce which has for centuries laid a heavy hand upon commerce. No movement is so heavily laden with results or will more widely and equally distribute its benefits as that of a free port and none can be more easily and effectively secured.

THE VITAL PROBLEM OF AGRICULTURE

By Peter Radford.

There is no escaping the market problem and the highest development of agriculture will not be attained until it is solved. For a market is as necessary for the producer as land on which to grow his crop. Governmental and educational institutions have spent $180,000,000 in the United States during the past ten years for improving soil production and improving seeds and plants, but very little attention and less money has been given to the marketing side of agriculture.

The problem is a monumental one and one which will never be solved until it gets within the grasp of a significant organization where master minds can concentrate the combined experience and wisdom of the age upon it. It is a problem which the farmers, merchants, bankers, editors and statesmen must unite in solving. The Farmers' Union stands for all there is in farming from the most scientific methods of seed selection to the most systematic and profitable plans of marketing, but does not believe in promoting one to the neglect of the other. We consider the work of farm demonstrators valuable and we ask that governmental and commercial agencies seeking to help us, continue to give us their assistance and advice, but we believe that their influence should be extended to the marketing side of our farm problems also.

We cannot hope to develop manufacturing by over-production of the factory; we cannot build up mercantile enterprises by the merchants loading their shelves with surplus goods and no more can we develop agriculture by glutting the market with a surplus of products.

DARIUS

The neigh of a horse made Darius King of Persia, the six contending powers for the throne agreeing among themselves that the one whose horse should neigh first should possess the kingdom. This ancient method of settling disputes among politicians could be revived with profit today. If our partisan factions and petty politicians could only settle their disputes by the neigh of a horse, the bark of a dog or the bray of a donkey, it would be a great blessing and would give our citizens a better opportunity to pursue the vocations of industry free from political strife.

Let those who pick political plums by raising rows and who flash swords dripping in the blood of industry understand that they cannot turn the public forum into a political arena and by a clash of personal aspirations still the hammer and stop the plow and that their quarrels must be settled in the back alleys of civilization.

EFFICIENT NURSE FINDS ASSISTANCE

Mrs. Anna L. Bryan Is Given Relief by Premier Preparation.

Louisville, Ky. Aug. 20, 1915. Mrs. Anna L. Bryan, an efficient trained nurse, who resides at 301 Crescent Court, Crescent Hill, this city, is among hundreds of Louisville women who have used Tanlac, the premier preparation with the most beneficial results.

Mrs. Bryan said: "I find Tanlac very fine. I have been using it for more than a week for gastritis. I have been treated by several physicians with very poor results. At times I vomited blood, and lost weight steadily."

"I find Tanlac has given me great relief. Since I began taking the medicine I have noticed a marked improvement in my condition. I have ceased to vomit blood and have begun taking on weight. In fact, Tanlac has made me feel like a different woman, and I wish that very excellent medicine great success."

Tanlac, the premier preparation is of unusual benefit in cases of stomach, liver and kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervousness, unsound sleep, faulty circulation, pallid complexion, catarrhal and bronchial troubles, coughs, colds and the like. It is especially beneficial as a tonic for general debilitation, persons, blood purifier and tissue builder.

Tanlac can be obtained in Mt. Vernon at Chas. C. Davis' drug store and in Livingston at the Central Drug Co's store or in Brodhead at John Robins' drug store.

Prof. B. C. Lewis Is Grateful to His Friends for Their Support.

BARBOURVILLE, KY., August 18, 1915.

To the Citizens of the 17th Senatorial District:

Because of the unusual conditions under which I have received such expressions of your confidence and support, I feel that I am unusually grateful to you.

I did not get into the campaign until after I closed school near the first of June. And one of my opponents, whose name, fame, and wealth stand for something, was from my own town and county. Also another of my opponents had a letter of indorsement from Congressman Powers of my town and county.

Being poor and unknown as I was, and having these odds to contend with and to combat, and yet receiving your support as I have, is something for which I am deeply grateful. I consider that the best I can ever do for you will not repay you. I shall certainly give you my best efforts.

After the smoke of the primary has cleared away I have "malice toward none, but charity for all" and believe that the right will prevail. I trust this is the sentiment of every one engaged in the primary. My opponents were kind and gentlemanly toward me. I tried to be to them.

I believe that the people of Kentucky as well as of the entire country, are so strong in their demand for a change in the business and political affairs of our state and nation that they are going to help bring it about. I trust that every Republican and all others interested will work together and help to elect Ed Morrow and the entire Republican ticket this fall. Then we may hope for relief.

Trusting that we may make a winning fight this fall, and that I may be able to render you some valuable service, I am

Yours very truly,
Adv. B. C. LEWIS.

IS SICKNESS A SIN.

If not, it's wicked to neglect illness and means of relief. It's wicked to endure Liver ills, Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, when one dose of Po-Do-Lax gives relief. Po-Do-Lax is Podo-phyltin (May Apple), without the gripe. It arouses the Liver, increases the flow of bile—Nature's antiseptic in the Bowels. Your Constipation and other ills disappear over night because Po-Do-Lax has helped Nature to remove the cause. Get a bottle from your Druggist to day. Get rid of your Constipation overnight.

A man passing his neighbor's house where they were placing a new roof, asked why he didn't send the old tin roof to the Ford automobile company. They buy that stuff and pay you a good price for it," said his friend. The owner shipped it to the company and received a communication from them saying that they didn't know what he had hit with his machine, but they would fix it up good as new for $20.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.
